The University of Melbourne - Norma Redpath Studio

arete completed the refurbishment of the Norma Redpath Studio for the University of Melbourne. The studio, located in Carlton, provides a number of residencies each year to Australian and international artists, writers and researchers through the University. These academics are invited to undertake residencies of varying duration's, with the program devised to engage residents with the local art and academic communities as well as providing opportunities to develop new work.

The studio revolves around a stunning, private internal courtyard showered by sunlight. To deliver this project the team worked alongside Studio Bright, McKenzie Group Consulting as well as the University of Melbourne.
